INTEGRATED PROPOSAL — BRAND × CONTENT × MEDIA · JUL – AUG 2026

BREWSEASON 2

The vertical micro-drama that sells the whole funnel.

HWC Coffee × Media Prima × Tonton

[Your Digital Growth Partner]

01 · THE OPPORTUNITY

Season 2 needs a refresh — not a reintroduction.

Brew is an established Media Prima IP on Tonton. Season 2 reinvents it as a snackable vertical micro-drama — 45 episodes at 2 minutes each — dropping alongside HWC Coffee's launch of 3 salted-drink variants. The audience already knows the brand; our job is to make them press play.

45 × 2 min

Vertical micro-drama

Bite-sized, mobile-first, built for the scroll. Perfect fuel for short-form ad cut-downs.

~20 posts / day

Posts on Drama Sangha alone

Content saturation is the real enemy. We win on differentiation and paid precision — not volume-matching.

Jul 22

Tonton release date

The whole flight builds toward this drop — teaser heat first, full-force push on release.

The challenge: cut through the noise with sharper creative and smarter targeting — not just more posts.

Two objectives. Both top-funnel.

We drive attention and demand on Tonton. HWC coffee sales sit outside our scope — we are the top of the funnel that everything else feeds from.

01

Drive Tonton Viewership

Get 2-minute episodes played, binged, and shared. Views are the currency of the drop.

+

02

Drive Tonton Subscriptions

Turn attention into sign-ups — powered by demand generation and the drink + free-month combo. No hard-sell.

The bar to beat (Brew S1): 14.7M views 244M reach 139K engagement

Klang Valley drama-watchers who love coffee.

Selangor + KL · ages 18–45 · mobile-first streamers · race-agnostic (Malay or Chinese — doesn't matter). The sweet spot is the overlap of drama fandom and coffee culture.

The Binge-Watcher

DRAMA-FIRST · ALWAYS STREAMING

- Follows Tonton dramas, watches vertical short-form daily
- Pain: nothing new worth committing to
- Trigger: a hook they can't scroll past

"Your next binge is 2 minutes away."

The Coffee-Culture Chaser

CAFÉ-HOPPER · SHARES EVERYTHING

- Tries every new drink, films it, posts it
- Pain: FOMO on the next viral cup
- Trigger: a launch everyone's talking about

"The drink everyone's filming."

The Deal Seeker

VALUE-DRIVEN · OFFER-RESPONSIVE

- Moves on combos, bundles, and free perks
- Pain: won't pay full price for streaming
- Trigger: a deal too good to skip

"Free month of Tonton with every cup."

GEO: Klang Valley (Selangor + KL) — the highest-density streaming + café market in Malaysia.

Not a drama — a living entertainment brand.

Season 2 is bigger than a broadcast schedule. We build BRU as a living entertainment brand on three strategic pillars — so every post, product and event moves the same story forward.

01

Conversation

TALKABILITY STRATEGY

Make BRU impossible to ignore — a daily topic on Threads and social.
We engineer reasons to react, debate and share around every episode.

02

Ownership

BRU AS AN IP / IDENTITY

A dedicated BRU presence beyond Tonton — its own personality and fanbase.
IP value that outlives the finale.

03

Experience

GROUND & COMMUNITY ACTIVATION

The story steps into the real world through HWC, communities and events.
Fans participate — not just consume.

One rule: everything must feel like it moves the same story forward — never separate marketing activities.

Remove the coffee — what gets discussed?

That's the talkability test. We build a conversation ecosystem around every episode — seeded threads spark organic discussion, cast & influencers amplify it to big reach.

Debate & Theories

LOVE DEBATE

"Sus gila ex-boyfriend Manis, tiba-tiba muncul."

TERPALING THEORY

"Scene coffee tu mesti ada maksud..."

Self-Claim & Shared Experience

SELF CLAIM / JUSTIFICATION

"Eh, this is literally me... dulu masa aku jadi barista..."

MILLENNIAL SHARED EXPERIENCE

"Sape pernah kena macam ni — benda ni memang selalu jadi kat cafe..."

Participation & FOMO

RECIPE PARTICIPATION

"Sedap pulak resipi coffee Manis dengan Mohsin ni."

THE PAYOFF

Discussion the audience starts is discussion the brand can amplify.

Sequencing: conversation first — the coffee amplifies existing discussion, it never has to start it.

The coffee is a character, not a placement.

The Signature Salted range becomes part of BRU's narrative universe — written into the script so that not buying the coffee feels like missing part of the experience.

Written in, not placed in

Characters drink it, argue over it, invent recipes with it.
The product carries story beats — not logo time.

The FOMO mechanic

"I want to try Mohsin's recipe lah... tapi beli kat mana eh? — Oh, HWC."
The drink is the only way to step inside the story.

Timed for attachment

Food collabs land after audiences are attached. We map exactly which episodes carry mentions, and which carry cliffhangers.

To lock with Media Prima: the episode map — which episodes introduce the product, which episodes carry the cliffhangers.

Does BRU deserve to exist outside Tonton?

Today all communication lives under Tonton, where BRU competes with ~20 posts a day of other drama content. A dedicated BRU account gives the story its own home — and the IP its own future.

Why a dedicated account

Consistent storytelling — no fighting the Drama Sangha feed.
Stronger retention: a fanbase, not passers-by.
Creative & engagement freedom.

What the IP unlocks

Own personality & voice · own fanbase.
Merchandise space · BRU playlists · BRU Café story.
Future collaborations & brand extensions.

Alive beyond the finale

The account preserves the IP after the last episode.
Trend-riding freedom (e.g. World Cup 2026), opinion posts, community rituals.
A running start for Season 3.

Division of labour: Tonton & Drama Sangha deliver reach — the BRU account is where the fandom lives.

Fans should participate — not just consume.

We transform the story into real-world experiences through BRU × HWC Coffee — communities and cultural activations that let people step into the BRU universe.

Communities we activate

Pickle & running crews · coffee lovers · barista community.
University students · young working adults.

Offline experiences

BRU watch party · HWC coffee meet-up · mini acoustic session.
Coffee workshop · latte-art challenge · character-themed menu · creator meet & greet.

Online participation

UGC & coffee-review videos · character quizzes.
Episode discussions · fan edits · community challenges.

Audience journey: curiosity before the drop → theories + HWC visits while watching → fan content, events & merch after.

One story. Three content engines.

Every asset we produce ladders into one of three engines — each with a clear job, a lead platform set, and a lead pillar it serves. Nothing gets posted "just to post".

08 · INVESTMENT — THE PLAN

RM 87K — every ringgit on attention.

Budget confirmed at RM 87K full-flight (Jul 6 – Aug 26), split 45 / 30 / 25 across TikTok, Meta and Google and optimised daily to cost-per-view. Premium takeovers (TopView, Masthead) sit outside this tier — swapped for high-impact standard buys.

TikTok · 45%

RM 39K

- Spark Ads + In-Feed, always-on
- Release-day Top Feed takeover (Jul 22)
- ~3.9M views at ~RM 0.010 CPV

Meta · 30%

RM 26K

- Reels-first reach + engagement (FB + IG)

Reallocation: reviewed weekly — spend follows the cheapest attention; no platform is guaranteed its split.

08 · INVESTMENT — THE MATH

What RM 87K buys — honestly.

Benchmarks unchanged (blended CPM ~RM 7 · ER ~1.2%). At RM 87K the paid engine alone lands ~6.7M views against S1's 14.7M — so the plan leans on all three layers, each reported separately.

From access to live in days.

Today is Jul 3 and launch is Jul 6 — we need account access immediately. The flight builds heat toward the Jul 22 Tonton drop.

Critical path: ad-account / Business Manager access + pixel must be granted by Jul 5 to launch on Jul 6.

Tracked daily. Reported weekly.

Every read-out leads with the top-funnel three — reach, views and engagement — the leading indicators of the drop's momentum. Everything else is a lever we pull to move them.

10.5M+ Reach	6.7M+ Video Views	127K+ Engagements	~ 3.5x Avg Frequency
