ICMS

Advertising Plan

TikTok, Facebook and Instagram, and Google Search | Three budget options | 22
August 2026

What we found before writing this plan

We opened your Google Ads account and read the code on your website before suggesting any budget. A lead means one person who fills in your form or messages you. Here is where you stand today.

RM3,137

Spent in 30 days

On Google ads alone, between 23 July and 21 August 2026.

Leads recorded

Google shows nobody filling in a form from that money.

1 of 8

Courses running ads

Only Enforcement Management runs. Football Studies is switched off by a blocked word.

Extra links on your ads

No extra links, no call button, and no WhatsApp button anywhere on your site.

One missing line of code causes all of it. Google's tracking code sits on every page of your site, but nothing ever tells it that someone finished your form. Your form sends the enquiry without moving the visitor to a new page, so Google never sees it happen. The only thing it can count is a page opening, which is why one setting counted 732 page views as if they were enquiries while the three settings meant to count real enquiries all sat at zero.

Two weeks of fixing before we spend big

When a college is short of students, the usual advice is ~~spend more on ads~~ make sure you can see what your money buys first. Every plan here starts the same way, and you do not pay for ads you cannot measure.

WEEK 1

Make the counter work

- Add the line of code that tells Google someone finished your form
- Send people to a short thank you page after they send it, so Facebook and Google both see it
- Delete the three broken settings and the one that counts page views
- Stop counting map taps on your Google business listing as enquiries

WEEK 2

Give the click somewhere to land

- Fix the Apply Now link, which has pointed at a February 2026 seminar page for six months
- Build one Malay page per main course, with the form near the top
- Add a WhatsApp button so people can message instead of filling a form
- Agree one list of intake dates, because your site and your ads give five different answers

WEEK 3 ONWARD

Then the spending starts

- Full budget goes live once we have watched one test enquiry travel from click to your inbox
- Week 6 review against the cost per lead limits printed in this deck
- Anything 50 percent over its limit gets switched off, not argued about

Weeks 1 and 2 run at a quarter of the budget you pick.

If we cannot show you one enquiry landing in your inbox by the end of week 2, we hold the spending and you keep the money.

The order we advertise your courses in

You told us which courses matter most this year. This is the order we spend on them, and the reason for each place in the queue.

Football and Sports

Football Studies · Sports Science · Exercise Science

Paid
first

- Your own website says this is the only Football Studies diploma in Southeast Asia
- You told us it costs you RM2.13 to get one enquiry on Facebook, about a third of your other courses
- Nobody else is buying these words on Google today
- Your account blocks it today with a paused word and a banned word

Enforcement and Policing

Enforcement Management · Policing & Investigation · Bachelor in Law Enforcement

Paid
second

- The only course running today, and 1 in 10 people who see the ad click it
- You told us one enquiry costs RM7.00 on Facebook
- One search phrase, law enforcement course malaysia, brought the only enquiries the account has ever recorded
- You are up against a police co-operative college with a much bigger campus

Business, Tech and Postgraduate

Business Administration · Computer Science · Applied AI · MBA · Master in Management · DBA

Paid
third

- Each student pays more, but they take longer to decide
- Few people search for postgraduate courses, so those words are cheap to own
- Funded from the RM12,000 plan upward, not before
- Computer Science and Applied AI wait until the lab upgrade is done

We do not advertise all nine courses at once. Two students per course is an operating cost problem, not a win.

Three platforms, three different jobs

Google Search is the smallest line in every plan, on purpose. Google only reaches people who are already searching for a course. TikTok and Facebook reach people before they start looking.

Meta Facebook and Instagram

Its job: steady enquiries at a price you can predict, plus showing ads again to people who already visited your site.

- Forms that open inside the app, with two questions that filter out time wasters
- A button that opens WhatsApp instead of a form
- The only platform where you already know your own cost per enquiry
- Gets the biggest share in all three plans

TikTok

Its job: reach school leavers and football fans who are not searching yet, and fix how ICMS looks while doing it.

- Where 17 to 22 year olds spend their time
- Football and campus clips suit the app, so you do not need a big production budget
- Doubles as the branding repair you asked for, paid for as advertising

Google Search

Its job: catch the person already typing your course name, protect your own name, and appear when someone looks up Unikop.

- These people are closest to signing up, so more of them enrol
- They also cost the most, about RM3.96 for every click today
- Only so many Malaysians search these words each month, so a bigger budget here buys back the vague searches that already failed

We capped Google on purpose. Your account was shown 10,996 times in 30 days across 80 search words, so the ceiling is real and we priced to it.

The three plans side by side

Every figure is what you spend on ads each month. The lead numbers are the sum of slides 7 to 9. The student numbers use your own figure that 2 to 3 out of every 100 enquiries turn into someone who signs up.

Monthly ad spend	Meta	TikTok	Google	Leads a month	Average per lead	Students a month	Ad cost per student
Plan A · RM6,000	RM2,400	RM2,400	RM1,200	727	RM8.25	15 to 22	RM273 to RM400
Plan B · RM12,000	RM4,800	RM4,200	RM3,000	966	RM12.42	19 to 29	RM414 to RM632
Plan C · RM20,000	RM8,000	RM6,000	RM6,000	1,180	RM16.95	24 to 35	RM571 to RM833

Why each enquiry costs more as the budget grows

Buying attention works like buying fruit at a stall. The first crate is cheap because the seller wants to clear it. By the tenth crate you have taken everything going cheap and the rest costs more. Your RM2.13 football enquiry came from about RM100 a day. Spend ten times that and the same people see your ad far more often, so Facebook charges more for the next thousand. We priced that in instead of quoting your best day back at you.

What stays the same in all three

The two week fixing period, the price limit per enquiry, the weekly check on which search words and which videos are working, and the rule about switching things off. The plans differ in how many courses they carry and how fast they reach your student target. The attention we give them does not change.

Plan A • Prove it works

RM6,000 a month

Two courses only. This plan exists to show you the real cost of an enquiry once the counting works, before you commit more money.

■ Meta RM2,400 ■ TikTok RM2,400 ■ Google Search RM1,200

Where the money goes	Each month	Max per lead	Leads

727

Leads a month

The eight lines on the left, added up.

15 to 22

Students a month

Using your own 2 to 3 in 100 sign-up rate.

What this plan leaves out

- Business Administration, Computer Science and Applied AI get nothing
- No MBA or Master in Management ads, so those rely on people finding you
- No ads shown to people searching for Unikop
- No overseas ads, so Bangladesh, Pakistan and China stay with your agents
- At 180 to 264 students a year, this plan does not reach 300 on its own

Plan B · Build it out

RM12,000 a month

Adds Business Administration, protects your own name on Google, and puts you in front of people looking up Unikop.

Meta RM4,800 TikTok RM4,200 Google Search RM3,000

966

Leads a month

19 to 29

Students a month

Using your own 2 to 3 in 100 sign-up rate.

What RM12,000 adds over RM6,000

- Business Administration advertised on all three platforms
- Ads on your own name, so you stop paying RM4.69 a click for people searching ICMS
- Your ad appears when someone looks up Unikop, Unicom, SEGI or UNITAR
- Enough Facebook budget to chase people who visited and left, rather than a token amount

At 228 to 348 students a year, this plan reaches 300 only if 3 in 100 enquiries sign up.

Plan C · Reach the target

RM20,000 a month

Covers every course you named, including the MBA and the doctorate, and starts advertising overseas instead of leaving that to your agents.

1,180

Leads a month

The fifteen lines on the left, added up.

24 to 35

Students a month

Using your own 2 to 3 in 100 sign-up rate.

What RM20,000 adds over RM12,000

- The MBA, Master in Management and doctorate get advertised on Facebook and Google
- A campus life series on TikTok, which is the image repair you asked for, paid for as advertising
- Computer Science and Applied AI join the Google list
- Room to test Bangladesh, Pakistan and the Gulf without cutting the Malaysian budget

At 288 to 420 students a year, this is the only plan that passes 300 across most of its range.

Which plan gets you to 600 students

You are aiming for about 600 students this year. Around 150 have signed up already and your overseas agents will bring a share of the rest, which leaves roughly 300 for advertising to deliver.

Plan	Each month	Students a month	Students a year	Ad spend a year	Ad cost per student	Does it reach 300?
Plan A	RM6,000	15 to 22	180 to 264	RM72,000	RM273 to RM400	No. It falls short at both ends.
Plan B	RM12,000	19 to 29	228 to 348	RM144,000	RM414 to RM632	Only if 3 in 100 enquiries sign up.
Plan C	RM20,000	24 to 35	288 to 420	RM240,000	RM571 to RM833	Yes, across most of the range.

What the ads cost, next to one student's fees

Worst case in the biggest plan is RM833 of advertising against a diploma priced near the RM21,000 PTPTN limit.

The change that beats a bigger budget

If 4 in 100 enquiries sign up instead of 2, you need half the advertising to get the same 300 students. A system that tracks enquiries, a rule on how fast your team calls back, and a WhatsApp button are all worth more than any change we could make to the ads. Slide 14 lists them as things we need from you, and we are not charging for them.

What would make these numbers wrong

- The counting never gets fixed, so none of this is measurable
- Fewer than 2 in 100 enquiries sign up, which we will see by week 6
- Fewer people search for these courses than the account suggests
- Your team cannot handle 30 calls a day at Plan C volume

Where every cost per lead comes from

Three of these numbers are yours, one is an industry average, and one is worked out from your own click cost. None of them is a round number we liked the look of.

Platform	What you told us	What we planned on	Why we planned higher
Meta · Football	RM2.13 per enquiry	RM8 to RM14	That came from about RM100 a day. At Plan C the same people see your ad far more often, and Facebook charges more for each extra thousand you reach.
Meta · Enforcement	RM7.00 per enquiry	RM8 to RM14	The most realistic of the three numbers you gave us. We treat it as the floor and plan above it.
Meta · Overseas	RM19.00 per enquiry	Plan C only	Kept out of the Malaysian average so it cannot make those figures look better than they are.
TikTok	Not running yet	RM6 to RM12	You have no TikTok figures of your own. This is a Malaysian education average, and it is the one guess in this deck we most want to replace with your real numbers by week 6.
Google Search	Nothing measurable	RM44 to RM55	You pay about RM3.96 a click today. If 9 out of every 100 people who land on the page fill in the form, that works out at RM44 an enquiry. Right now nobody fills it in, because they land on a contact page with the form near the bottom.

Every figure above is a limit, not a promise. If a platform runs 50 percent over its limit for two weeks running, we switch it off and move the money rather than explain it away in a report.

What the ads will say

Your ads today promise low fees, PTPTN and online study. Your website shows no fee at all, never mentions PTPTN on the course page, and offers no online option. We fix the promise before we pay for the click.

THE MAIN MESSAGE

Register for RM300, not RM1,900. The only Football Studies diploma in Southeast Asia, and an intake that does not make you wait until next year.

Anyone can check all three claims. The RM300 registration fee is already true and appears nowhere on your site. The football claim is your own, taken from your homepage. The intake line needs one decision from you before it goes live.

TikTok

- Titans FC training and match clips, shot upright on a phone rather than cut down from Facebook
- Students talking, one course per video, Malay first
- Put money behind your best organic posts before paying for new videos
- Six new openings a month, dropped if fewer than 1 in 100 viewers click

Meta

- Forms that open in the app and ask which course and how they plan to pay
- A WhatsApp button for people who will not fill in a form
- A swipeable set of cards on what jobs the course leads to, which is the real worry
- Ads that follow up based on which course page someone looked at

Google Search

- Two ads per group instead of the one you run now, so we can see which wins
- Six extra links, four short claims and a call button on every campaign
- Malay pages for Malay searches, which the account does not have today
- The RM300 fee in a headline, because no rival can copy it

How you will know it is working

You get numbers on a schedule rather than a report at the end of the month. These are the figures we hold ourselves to and the days you see them.

Weekly

Search words and videos

We block wasted searches, drop videos nobody watches, and move money between courses.

Week 6

First full review

What each enquiry cost, next to every limit printed on slide 11.

Monthly

Enquiries that became students

The only number that decides whether the budget is right. You have to tell us who signed up.

Quarterly

Which courses to keep

Which courses earn their budget, which get dropped, which get added.

When we switch something off, agreed now

- Any platform 50 percent over its cost limit for two weeks running
- Any ad that fewer than 1 in 100 viewers click after 5,000 views
- Any course signing up at less than half the average rate, reviewed every quarter

What we will not put in a report

How many times an ad was shown, Google's own optimisation score, and any enquiry count that includes a page view or someone tapping directions on your Google listing. Your account counts 732 of those a month. We will not print that number and call it a result.

What we need from you

Six things. The first three unblock the advertising. The last three are worth more than the advertising, and we are not charging for any of them.

1 Full access to the accounts

Editing rights on Google Ads, plus your Facebook and TikTok business accounts. We were given view-only access on 18 August, which means we cannot change a single setting.

2 Half a day of your web developer

To add the code that tells Google someone finished your form, and to build a thank you page. Without this, every number in this deck is guesswork.

3 One list of intake dates

Your course pages say January, May and September. Your Apply Now page sells a March 2026 intake. Your ads say July and August. You told us it is monthly. We need one answer before any ad runs.

4 Permission to publish your fees

RM300 to register against Unikop's RM1,900 is the strongest thing you can prove, and it appears nowhere on your site or in any ad.

5 Someone who owns the enquiries

Enquiries land in a shared spreadsheet with nothing tracking them and no rule on calling back. Plan C means about 40 a day. Name the person and agree how fast they call.

6 A WhatsApp business number

Your own team said people click WhatsApp and give up on forms. There is no WhatsApp link anywhere on icms.edu.my today. This is the cheapest gain available to you.

What it costs

The advertising money goes straight to TikTok, Facebook and Google, and we charge you what they charge us, with nothing added. Our own fee is separate and covers the planning, the building, the videos and copy, the weekly work and the reporting.

Line	Plan A	Plan B	Plan C	Notes
Ad money, paid to the platforms	RM6,000	RM12,000	RM20,000	Charged at cost. We share the platform invoices in full every month.
Toggle fee	RM (to be confirmed)	RM (to be confirmed)	RM (to be confirmed)	To be confirmed by Toggle before this is issued.
Ad money in months 1 and 2	RM1,500	RM3,000	RM5,000	The fixing period runs at a quarter of the budget. You do not pay for ads you cannot measure.
Shortest commitment	3 months	3 months	6 months	The week 6 review only means something with a third month behind it.

Included in our fee

- Rebuilding all three accounts, including tearing down the current Google setup
- Writing the tracking instructions and checking them with your developer
- Direction and copy for all three platforms, in Malay and English
- Weekly work on the accounts, monthly numbers, and a course review every quarter

Quoted separately

- Rebuilding your website, which this deck argues for but does not include
- Filming and photography on campus
- Choosing and setting up a system to track enquiries
- Search rankings work, which we left out of an advertising plan on purpose

Thank you

Fix the counting, unblock football, repair the Apply Now link. Those three cost almost nothing and solve more than any budget decision in this deck.
